How Much Inflation?

—by—
SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL
"The Gentleman from Indiana"

The best that can be said for O. P. A. is that it is like a dam in a river. Assuming that it does not leak (black markets or wage increases) it sounds plausible to say that it is a good thing to dam back the dollar flood until it levels off (supply and demand balances).

But is this a good comparison? A dam in a river serves against a sudden cloudburst, but not against a never-ending downpour. Except for the ark that floated on the face of the waters, Noah would have drowned. Would real engineers or statesmen tell people who live in a river valley below a dam that they are in no danger as long as the dam (O. P. A.) is maintained even though the water never stops rising?

Mr. Barnich said O. P. A. price fixing is "plain bunk" unless we turn off the ceaseless rain of dollars. It is plain dishonest to say that only O. P. A. can save us from the flood. Why don't they tell what causes the water to rise behind the dam?

Professor Fetter of the Political Science Department of Princeton University says in the Saturday Evening Post of July 13th, "Unless Washington does something effective to stop inflation, the nation is headed for the greatest financial explosion in its history."

He points out, as between 1932 and 1945, our gold stock increased from $3 billion to $22 billion, or 633%; Federal Reserve notes from $3 billion to $26 billion or 766%; money in circulation from $6 billion to $29 billion or 383%; checking accounts from $15 billion to $106 billion or 607%; and per capita circulation of money from $42 billion to $210 billion, or 499%.

There is your inflation, my friends. There is your flood pressing against the dam. And it is still raining!

Well, says the strategy. The New Deal has stayed in power on deficit dollars, on going into debt now for 16 years—"Tax, spend and elect!" Will it stop the rain of dollars? Will it kill Santa Claus?

Hardly. "No," it shouts, "Keep the dam (O. P. A.) and all will be safe."

Senator Mead of New York says the new O. P. A. bill "is a fraud upon the millions who bought war bonds; upon the disabled veterans pensioned by the government; upon the owners of life insurance policies," etc., etc.

Now the New Dealers know of the danger of the rising flood. They know that all history proves that price fixing is no permanent protection against an unending flood of money. They know that water seeks its level. They know that much, surely.

Yet, relying on popular ignorance, they plan to erect a political alibi for their crime of pouring more borrowed money behind the dam. They will say, "If O. P. A. had been continued as was, there would have been no inflation. Now it has come. We tried to save you. But your Congress deserted you. It went over to Big Business and the profiteers."

Then, as the flood sweeps down the valley, they hope the people, in panic, will give them totalitarian power.

Note: Many sound men believe there are offsetting factors—if we can get them to work—which could prevent the "greatest financial explosion in our history." But few without political axes to grind will disagree with Professor Fetter that we are not doing the hard, but necessary, things to shut off the flood. We are in a race between public education and the ear grease of demagogues.

ONE MAN'S OPINION --

By Walter Kierman (Distributed by International News Service)

Rep. May has agreed to appear before the Mead committee to explain how he got into a Conga line.

A picture of May congratulating a bride got into the papers and now every Congressman who ever kissed a baby is expecting a summons.

We have a very polite note from Mrs. Sun Yat-sen reading "Thank you so much for the guns but you're overdoing it."

This is our first invitation to withdraw from the internal affairs of a nation but we still have quite a few invitations to intervene.

Any one of them should pay off as well as our good intentions in China.

But there is this much about it . . . if we do withdraw from China there are other places we can go and be just as un-welcome in six months. I'll look up the maps.

Morrisville Youth Is Hurt In Two Collisions

MORRISVILLE, July 24—A Morrisville youth was involved in two collisions within a few minutes on Sunday evening. He is Earl Wilcox, 19, of Green street. Wilcox is seriously injured, he being a patient in Mercer Hospital, Trenton, N. J.

First Wilcox was tossed from the rear seat of a motorcycle which hit a pole opposite the Langhorne race-track on Lincoln Highway, near South Langhorne. He sustained a cut over the left eye.

William Truckess, 46, standing nearby, placed the youth in his wrecking truck for a fast trip to Mercer Hospital. He used the Yardley bridge instead of the lower bridge to avoid traffic. His vehicle figured in a collision with an automobile on Sanhican Drive between Abernethy Drive and LaBarre avenue, Trenton.

Truckess was injured and Wilcox sustained further hurts, including a fractured vertebra and a head injury.

The driver of the automobile was unhurt. He was Alex Kozlowski, 32. A third motorist took Truckess and Wilcox to the hospital.

The motorcycle was driven by John R. Gilroy, 18, Tyburn road, Morrisville. He and Wilcox are co-workers at Robertson Manufacturing Co., Morrisville.

Composed of members of the Quakertown Rotary Club, a flying club has been formed at the Quakertown Airport, and delivery of the plane, which has been ordered by members of the flying club, is to be made this week. This is believed to be the first service club in the United States to organize a flying club.

The new plane will have on it the emblem of Rotary.

Russell Yoder has been elected president of the new flying club, and Ray Z. Hartman is the secretary.

Between 15 and 20 head of pure-bred Guernsey cattle headed for Claude Myers, a Plumsteadville farmer, came near being electrocuted during a storm this week.

A bolt struck the upper part of the barn, and immediately the lower portion of the barn became highly electrified.

Coming in contact with the steel and iron stanchions, about 15 cows, several heifers and a bull were knocked to the floor. The cows and heifers were able to regain their feet in about ten minutes, but almost two hours elapsed before it was possible to get the bull on his feet.

It is believed the stanchion in which the bull was standing was more highly charged than the other stanchions. The bull, it was said, was so severely shocked that it may be necessary to kill him.

Immediately after it became known the interior of the cow barn was charged with the electricity the current was cut off, but the stanchions remained charged for some time. Neighbors assisted Mr. Myers in removing the cattle from the barn.

PRICE DICTATORSHIP

About the only good thing which can be said about the new OPA Compromise Bill, now awaiting final action, is that the plan is so contradictory and involved that it probably cannot accomplish its purpose—whatever that is.

One thing it does, and with a vengeance, is to tear OPA itself to tatters. The agency will be only a shadow of the titanic economic weapon it became in the hands of Chester Bowles.

But the Bill sets up a new price-control body, a "Price Decontrol Board," with still greater powers and still fewer restrictions. As a practical matter, under the terms of the proposed law, this new Board is granted an absolute dictatorship in the fields of industry, agriculture and commerce.

Whether the shadowy figures behind the scenes in Washington will be able to use these powers (if the bill is finally passed and signed) to carry out their purpose of collectivizing and nationalizing American production remains to be seen. The door would be unlocked.

As for the OPA itself, two of the principal fields in which it formerly had virtually supreme authority have been torn from it. One of these is control of agricultural products, where the OPA formerly dominated the Secretary of Agriculture; and in the subsidy program. In the field of non-agricultural products, OPA's prices are required to cover actual costs plus reasonable profit. The field of housing continues to be kept outside the OPA's reach.

Moreover, OPA is put under a new set of requirements which would greatly curb the eagerness with which it used to juggle prices back and forth. Each change, under the new plan, would have to be backed up with a statement of the reasons for it and the expected benefits.

But the principal manner in which OPA is swept out of a position of power is by making all of its acts, which formerly were substantially absolute and final, reviewable by the new Price Decontrol Board.

This new agency is now to wear the crown. Whatever it says, under the law, goes.

The extent to which executive, legislative and judi-

ATOMIC BOMB BLAST TO SHOOT WATER SKYWARD

Column of Water Likely to Go Two to Three Miles Into the Air

TAKES PLACE TODAY

By James I. Kilgallen
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
ABOARD USS APPALACHIAN, BIKINI, July 24—(INS)—Scientists estimated today that the sub-surface atomic bomb blast in Bikini lagoon tomorrow (today, U. S. time) will cause a column of water to shoot two to three miles skyward.

The scientists were reluctant to conjecture on the number of vessels from the 50-ship target fleet which would be sunk or to say whether or not the ships would be hurled out of the water by the terrific blast.

In discussions with newsmen aboard the press ship Appalachian, the experts emphasized that no one knows for sure just what will happen when the bomb bursts and that many predictions at this stage are merely "guesses."

Dean M. P. O'Brien of the Engineering Department of the University of California who is working on oceanographic problems connected with the atom test, declared:

"We estimate that when the bomb bursts, a column of water will shoot upward to a height of 10 to 15 thousand feet. At the beginning, this column's velocity will be more than 2,000 feet a second."

"We think that all the water that is going to fall back will have fallen within 10 to 15 minutes after the blast."

The detonation is scheduled for 8:35 a. m. Thursday (1:35 p. m. Wednesday, PST), weather permitting. Latest weather forecasts indicate that cloud cover will be sufficiently light to permit adequate photography of the world's fifth atomic explosion.

Commander Roger Revelle of the Navy's Bureau of Ships estimated that the wave of water which is projected into the air will have fallen off to a height of from five to 10 feet when it reaches Bikini Atoll, three miles from the blast.

FORMER G. I.'S TRAIN AT CO. SEAT AIRPORT

Doylestown Airport is Accredited by Veterans Administration

GOV'T PAYING COSTS

DOYLESTOWN, July 24—The Pennsylvania Aeronautical Commission and the Civil Aeronautics Commission have approved the Doylestown Airport, and accredited it as a school for teaching and training of civilian pilots.

Certification of the Doylestown Airport as an accredited teaching school has been made to the Veterans Administration, and starting immediately, returned war veterans are being registered for classes in the very well equipped school.

Any returned war veteran, under the GI Bill of Rights, who desire to study aviation at the local airport, will be allowed $2.12 per day for every day he served in the armed forces during World War No. 2. This money is paid to the airport by the United States Government. The limit on the training course under the present GI Bill of Rights is three years.

The Doylestown Airport is undergoing its finishing touches and already it has been classified as one of the finest civilian airports in this section of the country, for its size.

The most modern of equipment is to be found there, including a new hangar that can accommodate 19 planes. There is a complete mechanical department, a fully-equipped classroom for teaching the air-minded G.I's.

William A. Hughes, a World War No. 1 ace, and operations manager of the new airport, states that with in a short time a total of some 290 ex-GI's will be taking the course here.

"There is absolutely no red tape whatever in making application for the course if you have your discharge from the service," Manager Hughes explained. "We are signing up new students daily, and it is my personal opinion that within a few months Doylestown will have the largest civilian training school in aeronautics in this section of the country."

Associated with Operations Manager Hughes is James DeLong, chief pilot, well known in eastern Pennsylvania for many years in aviation circles as an outstanding pilot of all types of aircraft; Bernard Hughes, a son of the manager who was a fighter pilot in World War No. 2; and Harry Hilton, instrument instructor. Also associated with Operations Manager Hughes in the business activities of the airport is Frank L. Worthington, of Doylestown, executive secretary of the Doylestown Maennerchor Society, owners of the ground on which the airport is located.

Other competent aviation experts will be added to the staff of the

Bomb Test Plans Still On

San Francisco—A broadcast from off Bikini lagoon early today, said he underwater atomic bomb test scheduled for today "is still on." Vice admiral William Blandy, Operations Crossroads chief, stated that in the event the weather is too bad at the scheduled hour of detonation the test will be postponed at 30 minute intervals.

Civil War Likely Between Zionists

Jerusalem—The bombing of Jerusalem's King David Hotel, resulting in at least 166 casualties and threats of Arab-Jewish warfare, was viewed today as possibly the opening gun in civil war among the Zionists.

Senior officials of the Jewish agency, who preferred to remain unnamed, declared flatly that the attack admittedly perpetrated by the Irqun Zvai Leumi—Jewish extremists—was an "outrage" and "a cunning move." These Zionist leaders added:

"It was a blow aimed not solely against the Palestine government or British authorities, but primarily against the policies of the Jewish agency and the elected leadership of Palestine Jews."

TRENTON CALLS RESCUE UNITS FROM BUCKS CO.

Squads Drag Delaware River Area for Bodies of Two Colored Boys

GRAPPLE FOR 7 HOURS

Units of the Lower Bucks County Marine Association dragged the Delaware River, last night, in the vicinity of the Delaware River bridge at Bridge street, Trenton, for the bodies of two colored boys who were drowned.

David Beattie and Ronald Tinney, both 10, fell into the water while fishing out driftwood washed down the river by the swollen stream.

The two boys, according to Trenton police, were in a sluiceway, catching the wood when one toppled over. The other lad grabbed at him and lost his footing also falling into the stream. The only witness was a fisherman named Neuman, who was quite a distance away.

The boys were half-brothers and resided at 9 Dillon Alley, Trenton, near where the tragedy occurred.

When the call was first received by Trenton police radio car at 7:47 with Officers Chorazy and McKeever responded from the Second Police District. Trenton firemen were also summoned but were handicapped because of the lack of the necessary equipment.

The Bucks County groups were called upon and responded in their usual quick fashion at about eight o'clock. They worked at the scene until nearly four o'clock this morning, but without success.

DRAFT HOLIDAY'S END

There is less surprise than disappointment at Selective Service's announcement that the current draft holiday will end on September 1. Inductions have been virtually at a standstill since the middle of May. But enlistments have continued at a high level.

It is argued that the Army
should have waited until the end of August to find out how many volunteers would enlist before deciding what to do. But it is fairer to the men in the 19-29 age group
to give them some advance warning that they are subject to call than to leave them in suspense and uncertainty until the last moment. And making the announcement at this time may spur voluntary enlistments and may reduce the number of men who will be called up through the draft.

There is a sharp tightening of draft deferment regulations under the new call, deferment being limited to registrants "indispensable, and irreplaceable to the national existence." It has also been decided by conscription officials to recall veterans with no overseas service and less than six months
in this country.

In justice to the public, the Army should make available, at the earliest possible date, the totals of voluntary enlistments during July. It must do everything possible to convince the public that it is not hell-bent for conscription whether or not it is necessary. The public regards peacetime conscription as an evil
at best.

CORN AND MEAT

Most significant factor in the record corn crop predicted for the United States is the possibility that meat supplies next year will be better than expected.

Under the scarce feed situation,
brought about by heavy shipments
of grain to Europe, meat animals
have not been fed to normal weights. This was encouraged by controlled pricing which penalized the feeder who sought heavy weights. Hundreds of millions of pounds of meat that the country otherwise would have had were sacrificed through the program of short feeding.

Corn still has the hazard of August to go through. If it makes the grade and yields as abundantly
as forecast, full feeding of livestock can be restored much sooner than had been anticipated. This is all the more likely in view of the certainty that shipments of food to Europe can not be continued forever.

The danger is that slaughter of grass cattle will be so heavy in the next few weeks that there will not be enough left to fill the feedlots next winter. If that happens the shortage will be acute next year.
But it appears now that there will be enough feed to restore normal feeding programs after a few months.

cial functions are surrendered to this body can be told in a few simply but significant lines from the Bill:

"Orders of the board shall not be subject to modification or review by any other Department or agency OR BY ANY COURT."

Really, this is the only part of the Bill which matters.
Once in office, the Board can do as it wishes. If it becomes "packed", either by accident or design, with "collectiv-ists," "managed economy" disciples, or just plain long-haired visionaries, private initiative in America can be led to the slaughter-block of Socialism.

To make matters worse, the Bill is full of sanctimo-nious assertions of an intention to speed up production,
hold down inflation, protect free enterprise, "de-control"
government interference, "return to peacetime economy,"
etc., etc.

Moreover, there are countless paragraphs which, considered alone, sound like they would be assurances against the various high-handed acts of the past which brought OPA into disrepute. Numerous standards are set up for the guidance of the Board, and many words are used to promise that price-control will not again be used to try to precipitate an economic revolution.

Yet in the final analysis, the interpretation of these matters is left to the Board itself. It decides what the law means. Everyone involved in an industry might think the intention of the law was being violated, and the American people might share the view—yet the Board's decision would stand with all possible appeals ruled out by the statute itself.

The appointment of the three members of the board is subject to "the advice and consent" of the Senate, with the proviso that not more than two shall belong to the same political party. Two members, however, constitute a quorum and can transact business—the third and minority-party member of the Board is left out in the cold.

If a majority of the Senate is so blind to realities as to support a plan so conspicuously Communistic in design, presumably the President will be able to muster a confirmation of his appointees, whoever they be.

Congress, once the Senate confirms the Board, loses
all power over the new agency. Even the pocketbook control it had over OPA is neatly clipped, by a specific provision that the Board can draw upon staffs of all other Federal departments; if that provision were in effect today, the OPA would be going merrily on regardless of the lack of a present appropriation.

The "dirty work" of smashing the backbone of industries marked for nationalization will not have to be done by the Board itself. The Board is given power to appoint "hearing commissioners" at its discretion. These are not subject to Senate confirmation. John L. Lewis, for instance, could be named a "hearing commissioner" to rule on price questions in the coal industry; pro-Socialists
or even open Communists could be designated as arbiters
for other fields of production.

Equally unlimited is the choice of "regional industry
advisory committees" to be named by the Price Administrator. These do not necessarily have to be from among those financially interested in the industry, but could, if so desired, be made up wholly of labor agitators and union bosses. Under the plan, the making of appeals (to the Board and from the Board's rulings) is left largely to these advisory committees. If they are stacked against the industry involved, even the limited right of appeal might be denied.

Arbitrary power of this sort, unappealable to any other branch of government, judicial or otherwise, is simply the power of life or death over individuals or business enterprises.

By connivance with unruly labor unions—the sort of political back-scratching so long conspicuous under the New Deal—this power could be turned into the most frightful labor weapon yet designed.

There is considerable room for question whether the broad and unlimited delegation of legislative power which the new plan proposes is not (as it was in the case of the NRA) contrary to the Constitution.

In other words, the whole scheme may be unconstitutional.

If it isn't, it ought to be.

Former G. I.'s Train
At Co. Seat Airport

The school is equipped with a Link Trainer that has now been completely installed for preflight training and instrument work, in the class room near the hangars.

The course to be taken by the returned G.I.'s last from 7 to 26 weeks depending on the amount each individual is allowed on his service record.

Full information concerning the course can be secured at the Doylestown Airport offices on the flying field, or from the service officers of the Doylestown Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the American Legion or from Bucks County's Director of Veterans Affairs Richard Murray, in the Bucks County Court House.

A visit to the airport yesterday
revealed the fact that there are 25
planes on the grounds at the present time, including ten ships belonging to the Doylestown Air service and 15 ships owned by individuals or groups. A number of planes built and used by the United States Army and Navy, have been purchased by individuals for reconditioning and sale, and this work is also under way at the local airport.

Operations Manager Hughes explained that an average of four hours of classroom ground instruction and two hours flight instruction shall be given the returned G.I.'s each week. The course, to be completed in a minimum of seven weeks and a maximum of 26 weeks,
depends somewhat on weather conditions, with an average normal completion time of 16 weeks.

The individual students will be given only such instruction above
the minimum requirements as may be necessary for him to qualify for the CAA examination for the private pilot's certificate.

All solo flying will be supervised by the trainee's instructor or the chief pilot. This means the flight instructor or chief pilot actually must be on the airport. Daily ground instruction will be given before and after each flight lesson, consisting of all maneuvers performed during the lesson.

The class room ground school curriculum includes civil air regulations, general service of aircraft,
meteorology, aerial navigation.

WHAT'S THIS MEAN
on your electric bill?

KILOWATT-HOURS. You see it whenever you look at an electric bill.

Actually, a kilowatt-hour represents 1000 watts of electricity used for one hour. But why get technical? You buy milk by the quart. Fabric by the yard. Electricity by the kilowatt-hour... it's merely the standard measurement of the electricity you use.

The important thing is how the increased usefulness of electricity has caused the kilowatt-hours to go up. In 1930 the average home in this area used 575 kilowatt-hours a year. In 1945 the figure was 1324. That's close to 2½ times the former consumption!

In this same period the average price of electricity was cut nearly in half, which made it easier to let it lighten your tasks and brighten your home. These price reductions certainly guarantee a lot more for your money every time you snap a switch.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Richard R. Gay
Pastor
Hulmeville Methodist Church

Our Father, who art the source of our lives, the strength of our souls, and the inspirer of our hearts, grant us thy peace. We acknowledge our shortcomings and our intentional violations of thy laws. We confess that we are over concerned with our own welfare. O teach us to find life in all its fullness by a concern for the well being of others. Help us to find our way home by being reconciled to our brothers and thus being reconciled to thy purpose for our lives. May thy Son guide us. Amen.

MORE TELEPHONE CALLS THAN EVER BEFORE

Every day, over the entire Bell System, people are making 20,000,000 more telephone calls than they made a year ago — not 20,000,000 all together, but 20,000,000 more!

Their calls are longer, too.
The same thing is going on in Pennsylvania . . . thousands more local and out-of-town calls every day.
These calls are longer, too.

What we need in Pennsylvania
To take this upsurge of calls in our stride — to provide the high quality of service that you expect and that we want to provide — we need a tremendous quantity of equipment and facilities that we don't have.

What we're doing
Meanwhile, if we may say so, we're doing a few wonders ourselves.

We're overloading our equipment, where necessary, far beyond the capacity that was planned for it when it was installed.

We're improvising wherever we can, using temporary short-cuts in construction and temporary facilities which will be replaced with permanent additions as soon as conditions permit.

We're using every line and every piece of equipment we have to provide some service to as many people as possible, even though we know full well that this means service not quite so good as we'd like to provide.

"In spite of . . ."
In short, we're doing the best that can be done under the circumstances . . . in spite of material shortages which are becoming increasingly acute . . . in spite of a supply situation which has become progressively worse instead of better . . . in spite of a plague of other reasons quite beyond our control.

We don't like to work "in spite of" anything. We like to work unhindered and unhampered. We want to complete our job. We want to be able to say to anyone who wants telephone service anywhere in the territory we serve: "You bet. Here's the service you want and it's the finest service in the world, bar none."

We will, too. Make up your mind to that.

A Summary of The News

killing 48 and injuring 58. Forty-one persons are still missing. The British have arrested 27 suspects. Jews joined with Arabs and Christians to deplore the bombing, which Prime Minister Attlee described in the Commons as an "insane act of terrorism" that will not deter Britain from seeking a "just and final solution." He said Anglo-American talks were making progress.

President Truman condemned the bomb outrage, holding that "such acts of terrorism" might retard a peaceful solution of the Palestine problem. Egypt and Iraq notified the United Nations Secretariat that they had demanded that Britain install a new regime in Palestine, failing which they implied that the issue would be presented to the General Assembly.

The Administration is asking Congress for an immediate $75,000,000 interim credit to help the Philippine Republic get started while a request for $400,000,000 is being studied.

Chinese Central Government forces made progress on a 150-mile front along the Kiangsu-Anhui border and appeared to be threatening three Communist bases.

Admiral Blandy said that the under-water atomic bomb test would be held at 5:35 this afternoon, New York time, barring sudden bad weather or an unforeseen emergency.

Bolivia's revolutionary government promised to observe international treaties and to respect native and foreign capital. President Morinigo's Cabinet in Paraguay resigned to permit reorganization of the Government to include opposition parties.

Atomic Bomb Blast to Shoot Water Skyward

center.

Revelle predicted that the wave would run up on the shores about 300 to 400 feet which, he said, would not mean that it would pass all the way across the atoll to the ocean.

The naval officer "guessed" that the atomic detonation will blow a depression in the bottom of Bikini lagoon 25 to 75 feet deep and about 500 feet in diameter.

The scientists believed that one million tons of water will be churned about the lagoon or spout of into the air.

O'Brien, Revelle and some others did not think the water would be boiling as a result of radioactivity when it is shooting toward the sky. Most of the scientists believe the color of the water-spout will be white.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Richard R. Gay
Pastor
Hulmeville Methodist Church

Our Father, who art the source of our lives, the strength of our souls, and the inspirer of our hearts, grant us thy peace. We acknowledge our shortcomings and our intentional violations of thy laws. We confess that we are over concerned with our own welfare. O teach us to find life in all its fullness by a concern for the well being of others. Help us to find our way home by being reconciled to our brothers and thus being reconciled to thy purpose for our lives. May thy Son guide us. Amen.

MORE TELEPHONE CALLS THAN EVER BEFORE

Every day, over the entire Bell System, people are making 20,000,000 more telephone calls than they made a year ago — not 20,000,000 all together, but 20,000,000 more!

Their calls are longer, too.

The same thing is going on in Pennsylvania . . . thousands more local and long distance calls every day.

These calls are longer, too.

What we need in Pennsylvania

To take this upsurge of calls in our stride — to provide the high quality of service that you expect and that we want to provide — we need a tremendous quantity of equipment and facilities that we don't have.

We need equipment for 247 dial office additions and 297 manual office additions.

We need 43 new buildings, and enlargements to 20 of our present buildings.

We need thousands of telephone instruments, miles and miles of cable and wire, vast quantities of a countless variety of tools and other equipment.

Why don't we have them?

For precisely the same reason that you don't have all the butter and clothes and automobiles and other things you want.

Western Electric, supplier for the Bell System, is hard pressed for essential materials . . . for lead and copper and brass and textiles and steel and lumber.

Shortages of these basic materials — the stuff that telephone equipment is made of — make the going tough. They make it exasperating, too, for they are shortages completely beyond Western Electric's control.

Even so, Western Electric is doing wonders with what it gets, and is scouring the four corners of the globe for what it needs. And it won't be long before the trickle of supplies becomes a steady flow, and the steady flow a flood.

What we're doing

Meanwhile, if we may say so, we're doing a few wonders ourselves.

We're overloading our equipment, where necessary, far beyond the capacity that was planned for it when it was installed.

We're improvising wherever we can, using temporary short-cuts in construction and temporary facilities which will be replaced with permanent additions as soon as conditions permit.

We're using every line and every piece of equipment we have to provide some service to as many people as possible, even though we know full well that this means service not quite so good as we'd like to provide.

"In spite of . . ."

In short, we're doing the best that can be done under the circumstances . . . in spite of material shortages which are becoming increasingly acute . . . in spite of a supply situation which has become progressively worse instead of better . . . in spite of a plague of other reasons quite beyond our control.

We don't like to work "in spite of" anything. We like to work unhindered and unhampered. We want to complete our job. We want to be able to say to anyone who wants telephone service anywhere in the territory we serve: "You bet. Here's the service you want and it's the finest service in the world, bar none."

We will, too. Make up your mind to that.

CUNNINGHAM HURT WHILE TRAINING; CAN'T FIGHT HERE

Receives Severe Gash Over His Right Eye While Sparring

BROWN IS SUBSTITUTE

Boxer from Miami, Florida, Has An Envious Record in Ring

Injured while training, "Irish Jack" Cunningham has been forced to cancel his bout with "Fabe" Kelly, scheduled for the St. Ann's A. A. arena tomorrow night. Cunningham received a severe gash over his right eye while sparring. Promoter Sam Moffo hurriedly secured a substitute for his main event and succeeded in getting "Eddie" Brown, of Miami, Florida, who is touring the states and setting up an enviable record.

When Kelly heard who his opponent was he balked at first but Moffo pacified him by boosting the ante in his contract. So the Kelly-Brown windup is slated to be one of the best naturals of the season and will be given to the fight fans of this section at the regular prices. Fans who passed the St. Ann's arena yesterday afternoon were amazed to see an old familiar figure in ring togs, teaching a Bristol youngster the finer points of the ring game. He was Sammy Moffo who at one time was considered one of the best in the east and his protegee yesterday was "Jimmy" Carleo.

Determined to have a Bristol boy a winner on his card, Moffo volunteered to go four rounds with Carleo, teaching him how to weave and bob and roll over punches. Carleo appeared in much better shape than in his first bout when he was knocked out in the third session.

Carleo's opponent in a four-round session tomorrow night will be "Vic" Butler, Trenton, who has already been in several preliminary bouts and is on his way up. Carleo is full of confidence and is certain he can take over the Jersey boy and redeem himself in the eyes of the local fight goers.

In a six-round semi-windup, Pancho Namee, of Mexico, who at the present time is residing in Philadelphia, fights Larry Gibson, of Trenton. Namee scored a victory last Thursday night at Norristown.

Reserved seats for the show can be purchased at St. Ann's Club, Diamond Sporting Goods Store, and Moffo's gas station.

CROYDON VETERANS TO MEET HOLMESBURG

The Croydon "Vets," winners of nine games this season, will meet a stiff opponent this Sunday when they play the Holmesburg Ramblers, of the Quaker City League.

The Ramblers is one of the three teams to beat the Tacony Aces this season.

The management of the Croydon team has not stated on what diamond the tilt will be played, it attempting to secure Leedom's field.

The Vets are also completing arrangements for another night game on the high school. Manager Pluma is attempting to use the new lighting system of ten poles instead of six. Opponents for this game will either be the Washington Pilots or Tacony A. A.

Army Chaplain Writes of His Tour Through Rome

EDGELY, July 24—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Vandegrift have received an interesting letter from their son, Capt. Gillette Vandegrift, a chaplain in the U. S. Army stationed at Hersfeld, Germany, describing a 19 days tour of Rome and Switzerland.

Among the places of interest he visited are: the Colosseum, Pantheon, Roman Forum, Julius Ce-sar's assassination site, the seven hills of Rome and the Catacombs where the early Christians buried their dead.

"It was a treat to visit the Mamertine Prison where both Peter and Paul are said to have been kept prisoners and to see the stone pillars to which they had been chained," Capt. Vandegrift informs. Chaplain Vandegrift described his visit as "walking through the pages of the history book."

While in Rome he also was accorded an audience with the Pope. Chaplain Vandegrift's wife at the present time is spending some time with friends in Dover, N. J.

When released from service, Chaplain Gillette and his wife plan to do missionary work in China.
